The Joy of Cancellation

Sometimes I think
I have to do more than I can or more than I wish
and I'm hurrying and worrying
about how I'm gonna..... and everything seems impossible
and all of a sudden
I find out,
by some miracle,
that it's not today
or not yet
or not at all the relief
of things cancelled
or postponed
make me so
deliriously happy
I can almost write a poem.

Susan Rosenberg has been married to the same man for 65 years, is the mother of 5, the grandmother of sixteen and great grandmother of 23. She writes poetry and serves as volunteer secretary for Voices Israel (Israeli poets who write in English). From time to time her poems get published in magazine, anthologies and online. She won honorable mention in two international competitions.
