

Susan Dilisio

Morning Field

Stretch of green
seen from the curved road
October morning.

Low-lying haze skims
the length of field Wraps lightly along the tractor, farther back,
Claiming its territory.

Autumn sky,
changed leaf
Red
On the white oak tree.

Carried with me,
image

Like the strokes in a rich oil painting Revered Unseen.

Susan Dilisio is a long-time member of North Shore Writers Group, a dedicated group with varied genres that meets twice a month in Salem, MA. She has contributed to Ghost Writers, a collection of short stories with North Shore Group of 2008 and a later collection in 2010.